Euro area quarterly balance of payments and international investment position: second quarter of 2018

- The current account of the euro area showed a surplus of €401 billion (3.5% of euro area GDP) in the four quarters to the second quarter of 2018, compared with a surplus of €320 billion (2.9% of euro area GDP) a year earlier.
- As regards geographic counterparts, in the four quarters to the second quarter of 2018 the euro area current account recorded the largest bilateral surpluses vis-à-vis the United Kingdom (€158 billion, unchanged from the previous four quarters) and the United States (rising from €87 billion to €116 billion), while the largest deficit was registered vis-à-vis China (declining from €78 billion to €67 billion).
- At the end of the second quarter of 2018 the international investment position of the euro area recorded net liabilities of €536 billion (5% of euro area GDP), compared with net liabilities of €752 billion in the previous quarter.

Current account

The current account of the euro area showed a surplus of €401 billion (3.5% of euro area GDP) in the four quarters to the second quarter of 2018, compared with a surplus of €320 billion (2.9% of euro area GDP) a year earlier (see Table 1). The increase in the current account surplus reflected positive developments in all components, with a larger increase for services (rising from €60 billion to €116 billion) and smaller increases in the surpluses for goods (from €333 billion to €341 billion) and primary income (from €74 billion to €80 billion). The current account surplus was further supported by a decline in the deficit for secondary income (from €147 billion to €136 billion).

The larger surplus in services resulted mainly from increases in the surpluses for telecommunication, computer and information services (from €66 billion to €78 billion) and travel services (from €37 billion to €43 billion) and a smaller deficit for other business services (from €39 billion to €5 billion).

The increase in the primary income surplus was mainly due to larger surpluses for portfolio debt income (from €9 billion to €22 billion) and other primary income (from €13 billion to €18 billion), the latter mostly related to transactions with the EU institutions. These were partly offset by a decrease in the surplus for direct investment income (from €114 billion to €109 billion) and a larger deficit in portfolio equity income (from €88 billion to €94 billion).

euro area current account was recorded vis-à-vis China (declining from €78 billion to €67 billion). The current account balance vis-à-vis offshore centres moved from a deficit of €21 billion to a surplus of €9 billion.

The most significant geographic changes in the components of the euro area current account balance in the four quarters to the second quarter of 2018 compared to the previous year were a decline in the goods surplus vis-à-vis other countries (from €56 billion to €28 billion) and an increase in the services surplus vis-à-vis Switzerland (from €11 billion to €35 billion). Moreover, the euro area current account registered an increase in the goods surplus vis-à-vis the United States (from €124 billion to €146 billion), while the primary income balance vis-à-vis Switzerland moved from a surplus of €10 billion to a deficit of €10 billion.

This improvement of €216 billion mainly reflected higher net assets for direct investment (€2,045 billion, up from €1,911 billion) and portfolio debt (€185 billion, up from €51 billion). These developments were partly offset by higher net liabilities for other investment (€933 billion, up from €870 billion).

Data for the international investment position of the euro area

The improvement in the euro area's net international investment position in the second quarter of 2018 was driven by net positive exchange rate changes, transactions and other volume changes, which were only slightly offset by net negative price revaluations (see Chart 3). Net assets in direct investment increased primarily due to positive net transactions and other volume changes (see Table 2), while higher net assets for portfolio debt resulted from positive net developments in all components, but particularly transactions. The increase in net liabilities for other investment was also largely driven by transactions.

At the end of the second quarter of 2018 the gross external debt of the euro area amounted to €14.3 trillion (126% of euro area GDP), which represents an increase of €176 billion compared with the previous quarter.

Data revisions

This press release incorporates revisions to the data for all the reference periods between the fourth quarter of 2012 and the first quarter of 2018. The revisions to direct investment, portfolio investment and other investment were particularly sizeable and reflect revised national contributions to the euro area aggregates, in particular for the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Ireland and Germany, mainly in the context of national benchmark revisions and revised compilation methods.

Next press releases

- Monthly balance of payments: 19 October 2018 (reference data up to August 2018)
- Quarterly balance of payments and international investment position: 8 January 2019 (reference data up to the third quarter of 2018).
